Mastering Functional Dentistry:
Ultimate Occlusion Level 1

This two day hands-on course is designed to be the most practical application of occlusion philosophies for every day dentistry, as well as cosmetic restorative cases. This scientifically based program is designed to enable practitioners to incorporate occlusal stability in their single tooth, quadrant and more complex dentistry. This program is segmented into specific steps to follow during the process of evaluating a patient, formulating a treatment plan, and determining the specific procedural approach. Eliminate common failures by learning the following:

- Diagnostic chairside red flags to avoid failures and poor treatment choices
- Understand what determines occlusion, and when and why occlusal changes are required
- When to order additional diagnostics to determine appropriate treatment protocols
- When, why and how to deprogram patients to set up appropriate records
- Preparation design for functional and cosmetic cases, including veneers
- Ideal material selection, and cementation options for specific cases
- Principles and techniques for successful equilibration
- Understand TMD Classification.
- Successfully communicate occlusal disease to your patients
- Determine the cause of “wear” including attrition, erosion, and the cause of each.
- Understand Function vs Parafuction
- Hands-on diagnostics and record taking: CR recording, Facebow, MAP Study Model Analysis

ADVANCED TREATMENT PLANNING WORKSHOP

Join Drs. Nosti, Smith and Farmer as they host dentistry’s most exciting treatment planning workshop!!
The greatest challenge as general dentist is developing a plan for your patients that fits their goals and budgets, without missing opportunities. The variety of treatment options can be overwhelming and how to present those options confounding. From routine to very complex cases, this course simulates the process and the “how-to” system of taking a case from diagnostics to presentation and allows you to put into practice what you learn — at the course.

This HANDS-ON experience allows you to learn strategies for effective treatment planning on a variety of restorative cases. With more than eight cases you will learn a predictable system for treatment planning even the most complex case. This interactive experience will put your skills to the test and provide rationale and great discussion that will put philosophy into practice. Think LIVE case treatment planning on complex situations that will challenge you and provide practical hands on support of a treatment planning and case presentation process. Full Mouth Rehabilitations, aesthetically driven cases, complex reconstruction and severe wear will be examples of cases that you will achieve confidence in your treatment decisions, all while collaborating with the wet-fingered masters in practical, restorative dentistry.
